- (c) Swami had to deliver the letter which was sent by his father regarding Samuel's violence to the headmaster. He decided to give it in the afternoon so that there had been a chance that Samuel does something to justify the letter as the letter contained false content given by Swami. In the afternoon when he went to headmaster's office, he found that headmaster had taken an afternoon leave & wouldn't return before a week.
- (d) The lady had already ordered very expensive dishes like Salmon, ravier & then she ordered asparagus which is too very expensive. The narrator was worried, not for how he would manage his next month with less money but would he be able to live in the hotel.
- (e) Baldu was not good in studies at all. The teacher tried a lot to improve him but couldn't succeed. Then she asked the narrator to give extra lessons to Baldu. Where the teacher's care failed, narrator's sympathetic approach yielded better results and they became friends.

(f) It is right that the one who follows the path of truth can never be wrong. It is quite difficult to accept and express the things, the thoughts with their true identity but the one who propagates it, actually purifies his own soul which justifies the truth itself. Truth boosts our confidence and at our level feel happy and satisfied.

How satisfied and delighted I was ~~ever~~ when I met the lady whom had a luncheon with me years ago. ~~10 you back,~~ Rather than being ~~an~~ a pleasant meeting, it turned out to be a nightmare for me. She kept on ordering expensive dishes and condemned me for my eating habits. And today, she was obese and not at all attractive. I felt bad for her but I am totally satisfied to see her. She is ugly and has put on a lot of weight. Now, I no longer regret salmon, caesar, champaign, peaches, ice cream, asparagus, she relished at my cost. She made me spend all the 80 francs I had. The one who knows, how I spent my month ^{out} with a single penny in my pocket is me. But now I suppose that whatever ^{she} is today is due to her nature and serves it right.

Subject - encouraging students to participate actively in sports

I am an avid reader of your newspaper and know it pretty well that your newspaper has leadership over readership. Through the esteemed columns of your newspaper, I would like to express my views regarding importance of sports in a student's life. These days children are busy fiddling their mobile phones in the name of leisure. But they need to understand the importance of sports and physical exercise rather than wasting their time on social media and video games. I feel that participation in sports and games helps one to develop in a healthy way.

de Playing sports and outdoor games
inspite of being fun also inculcate moral values and qualities of courage, endurance and team spirit. By experiencing the defeat, children learn the importance of success. Physical exercise makes us fit and healthy. It increases our stamina and boosts immunity. It makes us disciplined which is very important for a student's life. We learn adjustments with others which amplifies our personality. Children must be encouraged to participate in sports and games so that they do not miss the experience of competition, defeat, friendship and team spirit. It is true that whenever we indulge ourselves in a sport we earn self-confidence and most importantly 'I can do it!!' spirit.

I hope my article will get a suitable place in your newspaper and benefit others.

I shall be highly obliged.

Yours sincerely,

Akshita

Pain They Suffer

By - Amna Bedi

Our parents, our elders not only spill pearls of wisdom in our lives but also love and care for us in abundance.

They are the one who never leave us alone and always motivate us in hard times. They do everything they can to satisfy our demands, to make us feel happy.

On the other side, it's us who in the air of being 'grown ups' abuse them for ~~interference~~. It's not like that, they ~~don't~~ trust you but its their fear that you may go on ~~the~~ wrong way. A few days back I saw a boy helping an old man to cross the road. Where were his children and how dare they leave him on the road like that. Then a thought struck my mind that how insane and selfish is today's generation. Those who send their parents to oldage homes, don't even give it a thought of how much his parents loved him when he was ^{on them} dependent. We persuade our parents to fulfill our demands and when they rely on us, we tell them to leave the house. The biggest and worst pain they feel ^{is} being treated like that. We must make sure about the comfort of our elders because they'll love us till their breath stops, they'll never leave our hands even if we abuse them because they care and so we must. ^{We} ought to respect our elders and give them abundance of love. This is when they will feel satisfied and happy.

Section A

1. i. (a) The gentleman was repeatedly picking up starfish along the beach and was throwing them into the sea. He was throwing those starfish back into the ocean because they came in with the high tide and then the tide had receded and the starfish would die there without water.

(b) By lifting and throwing the fish back into the sea, at least, he could save one life of a living being among thousand others rather than letting it die too.

(c) The moment Gandhiji realized that one of his 'chappals' fell down from his foot, he dropped the other one too.

(d) For his act, Gandhiji explained that one chappal was of no use to him, nor to him who found the dropped one. So he might as well have the full pair.

(e) This incident shows that nothing was/ too insignificant for Gandhiji.

(f) A person may not be able to do a lot physically to change the world, but that person has the power to inspire and set an example for others which may affect the outcome of any situation.

3. (a) The mistake all parents make according to the ~~poet~~ is that they forget to provide their children 'self worth'.

(b) Giving a label to the child is the biggest damage. Because the label you give to your child is the ultimate truth of his life. The child will identify himself by not what he feels he is, but by the label given to him.

(c) The parents should remember that every child is unique. Each child has his own set of qualities, so there must be no comparison. Their love will nurture the child's self worth in every moment of his life.

(d) One must appreciate their child whenever they see them doing something right. Create opportunities to boost the child's self esteem. Encourage him to execution of his choice and praise him on his progress & don't wait till he does it perfectly.

(e) Parents must express their love for their child. Let the child know how much joy he has brought in your life. Parents must spend time with him & do little things to make him feel cherished.
