It's not just the company's financial health that makes it to boardroom discussions. In the highly competitive business world, healthy employees mean a lot as well. Realizing this, many corporate houses in the city have now chalked out comprehensive health programmes as part of their executive 'well-being plan'. 'In an era of globalization and competition, corporate houses have realized the importance of having a healthy workforce. So many companies have now introduced health programmes for their executives,' says Dr. Motia Talapade from a multi-speciality hospital.

Doctors agree that due to long working hours and irregular eating habits, most executives are now suffering from hypertension, headache, fatigue, and exhaustion. 'With competition increasing by the day, it's tough for the white collared workforce. In addition, IT revolution has brought about many changes in offices,' says Ankur Dave, who has been working closely with a number of corporates on health plans.

For people in the hospitality industry and call centres, the work involves a shift system too and irregular working hours means going against the biological clock. 'Stress is the silent killer for young professionals. Most of them have lifestyle problems. Interestingly, many executives also take to smoking under the pretext of work pressure,' says Dr. Dave. Tarun Patel, medical officer contribute to the growth of the organization. Apart from regular health check-ups, we have other programmes like yoga and meditation workshops for executives,' says Patel.

A leading telecom company recently organized an obesity detection and ophthalmology camp for its employees. 'Apart from having a gym, we also conduct regular classes in yoga and aerobics to keep our employees fit. Lectures and workshops also create awareness,' an official of the firm said. Food too has come under scrutiny. An oil company now has introduced low-calorie lunch for its personnel.

But sometimes even such preventive measures can't safeguard employees from mental strain. No wonder then that some firms are now organizing counselling sessions for employees. 'Though we have started operations recently, we are in the process of formulating a health programme for our staff. Employees' health matter for the company's performance in the long run,' says Chris Robinson, head of a BPO. Pumping iron and building muscles might not be everybody's cup of tea but staying healthy is certainly the mantra for staying in business.

I Wandered Lonely As A Cloud

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high o'er vales and hills,
When all at once I saw a crowd,
A host, of golden daffodils;
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.

Continuous as the stars that shine
And twinkle on the milky way,
They stretched in never-ending line
Along the margin of a bay:
Ten thousand saw I at a glance,
Tossing their heads in sprightly dance.

The waves beside them danced, but they
Out-did the sparkling leaves in glee;

A poet could not be but gay,
In such a jocund company!
I gazed—and gazed—but little thought
What wealth the show to me had brought:

For oft, when on my couch I lie
In vacant or in pensive mood,
They flash upon that inward eye
Which is the bliss of solitude;
And then my heart with pleasure fills,
And dances with the daffodils.

3. Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow : (8)
1. To make our life a meaningful one, we need to mind our thoughts, for our thoughts are the foundation, the inspiration, and the motivating power of our deeds. We create our entire world by the way we think. Thoughts are the causes and the conditions are the effects.
 2. Our circumstances and conditions are not dictated by the world outside; it is the world inside us that creates the outside. Self-awareness comes from the mind, which means soul. Mind is the sum total of the states of consciousness grouped under thought, will and feeling. Besides self-consciousness we have the power to choose and think. Krishna says : “no man resteth a moment inactive”. Even when inactive on the bodily plane, we are all the time acting on the thought plane. Therefore if we observe ourselves, we can easily mould our thoughts. If our thoughts are pure and noble, naturally actions follow the same. If our thoughts are filled with jealousy, hatred and greed, our actions will be the same.
 3. Karmically, however, thought or intent is more responsible and dynamic than an act. One may perform a charitable act, but he does not think charitably and is doing the act just for the sake of gain and glory, it is his thoughts that will determine the result. Theosophy teaches us that every thought, no matter how fleeting, leaves a seed in the mind of the thinker. These small seeds together go to make up a large thought seed and determine one’s general character. Our thoughts affect the whole body. Each thought once generated and sent out becomes independent of the brain and mind and will live upon its own energy depending upon its intensity.
 4. Trying to keep a thought from our mind can produce the very state we are trying to avoid. We can alter our environment to create the mood. When, for instance, we are depressed, if we sit by ourselves trying to think cheerful thoughts, we often do not succeed. But if we mix with people who are cheerful we can bring about a change in our mood and thoughts. Every thought we think, every act we perform, creates in us an impression, like everything else, is subject to cyclic law and becomes repetitive in our mind. So, we alone have the choice to create our thoughts and develop the kind of impression that make our action more positive.

5. Let us choose the thought seeds of right ideas, noble and courageous aspirations that will be received by minds of the same nature. Right introspection will be required of us to determine what we really desire to effect. Everything in the universe is inter-related and inter-dependent, that we live in one another and by accepting the grand principle of universal brotherhood we shall be in a position to appreciate what a heavy responsibility is ever ours to think right. Let us reflect and send loving and helpful thoughts and lighten the load of the world's suffering.
